William Frazier 40 Negro who gave his home as Peoria, Ill died at the City hospital at 10 40 last night from a fractured skull received when he was struck on the head with a stone during a fight with three white men in the Pennsylvania railroad yards yesterday morning The three men disappeared following the fight and police today had been unable to find any trace of the trio

The fight was witnessed by Adolph Bianchi who operates a confectionery store on West Center street but because of the distance Bianchi was unable to furnish police with a description of the men As the Negro fell to the ground he told police the three ran south crossing over to the C & O tracks and disappearing west on Herman street

Descriptions Differ

Several white men who had been in a freight car with the Negro and the three men previous to the fight were unable to furnish police with an accurate description of the man who threw the stone Three witnesses gave three different descriptions of the man

Bianchi who called the police when he saw the Negro fall said his attention was first attracted by loud talking in a box car on the Pennsylvania tracks and while he was watching the three men and the Negro suddenly jumped from the car and began fighting One of the men picked up a stone and hurled it at the Negro striking him on the head

Police Captain Ira Shrock who answered Bianchi's call found the Negro lying near the car He got to his feet unassisted and was taken to police headquarters where he walked into the building Although only a few drops of blood were visible above his right temple and the Negro appeared none the worse for his experience Captain Shrock notified City Physician Dr Kenneth Smith who after an examination ordered him taken to the City hospital

Wife in Cleveland

He also walked into the hospital unassisted A short time after being placed in bed he became unconscious and remained in that condition until his death last night After being placed in bed he gave police his name and address and said his wife lived in Cleveland Efforts of the police to obtain some of the circumstances surrounding the fight were unsuccessful before he lapsed into unconsciousness

Police today were attempting to locate his wife in Cleveland as well as other relatives in Peoria

CURTIS FACES COURT FOR LINDBERGH HOAX

Defense Loses Fight To Remove Attorney, Motion To Dismiss Indictment Denied.

By The Associated Press
FLEMINGTON N J June 27—Judge Adrian O Robbins refused today to dismiss the indictment against John Hughes Curtis on trial as hoaxer of the Lindbergh baby case

The prosecution won another engagement in the trial when a motion by the defense for removal of one of the prosecution's attorneys was denied

As at [illegible] court convened this morning the defense applied for the removal of Harry Stout special district prosecutor on the ground that when he was being considered as a defense lawyer he learned secrets of the defense strategy He was not employed by the defense and later was selected to help with the prosecution

Judge Robbins heard argument on the motion in his chambers the argument lasting more than an hour and a half

After secret argument on the Stout motion was completed the judge and attorneys returned to the courtroom and the prospective jurors were taken from the room The defense then began public argument on motion for dismissal of the indictment and for a bill of particulars on the State's case against Curtis

The motion for quashing the indictment was presented by W C Pender [illegible] attorney who argued the indictment deprived the defendant of his constitutional rights [illegible] placed Curtis in [illegible] jeopardy

Curtis at the defense table gazed fixedly at Col Charles A Lindbergh seated at the prosecution table while the argument was being made Lindbergh kept his gaze on the table and his face was expressionless as several references were made to his murdered child

With Col Charles A Lindbergh watching from a nearby table [illegible] He went on trial for injecting [illegible] into the search for the kidnapers and murderers of the Lindbergh baby

Among other prospective witnesses in the courtroom in addition to Colonel Lindbergh were Betty Gow the murdered baby's nurse and Mr and Mrs Ollie Whateley the Lindbergh's butler and housekeeper

The governor indicated he was confident of nomination without resorting to a change of the long observed rule of the Democratic party James A Farley the New Yorker's campaign director said the action was taken in the interest of harmony and not because Roosevelt had swerved from his opinion that the two thirds rule was undemocratic."

The Roosevelt order against continuation of the fight was received at headquarters and promptly accepted as final by Farley

CHICAGO STADIUM June 27—True to the promise of months of tumultuous preparation, the Democratic party opened its convention today keyed high with partisan enthusiasm but torn by internal strife over the bid of Franklin D Roosevelt for the presidency

In the saddle temporarily at least the Roosevelt men took complete charge of temporary organization having their way without opposition on every convention committee The trouble stirring underneath was soaked over for the moment by outward harmony as the big party conclave went through the prearranged motions of getting its work under way

It was a cheering seething convention, nevertheless In old time style it almost started parading and demonstrating before it came officially into being On the floor the partisans of nearly a dozen candidates recorded the rivalries which will come to their decision later in the week

Roosevelt men swarmed the platform taking over temporary organization claiming a wide majority on every committee and fortifying themselves on every side against the desperate onslaught they must face when the big quadrennial show really gets down to business probably tomorrow

The first session of the convention was called to order at 12 47 p m by Chairman Raskob of the national committee

Outwardly the convention took no note of its promised troubles however much they were in the hidden thoughts of delegates and leaders Only cut and dried formalities were on the calendar for opening day Their high spot was the keynote speech by Senator Alben Barkley the big framed big voiced Kentuckian chosen temporary chairman A cheering convention thoroughly agreed in support of his jibes at the Republicans, welcomed him in what looked for the moment like a [illegible]

BARKLEY KEYNOTE SPEECH HITS G. O. P.

Accompanies Attack on Rival Party with Plea for Vote on Dry Repeal.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO June 27 In a keynote speech bristling with denunciation of the Hoover administration Senator Alben W Barkley of Kentucky today urged the Democratic national convention to favor a vote by the people on repealing the Eighteenth amendment and called upon the nation to turn the Republicans out of office

Describing the Republican plank on prohibition as a promiscuous agglomeration of scrap lumber" the Kentuckian said the Democrats should recommend passage of a congressional resolution repealing the Eighteenth amendment to be voted on by state conventions chosen solely for that purpose

Barkley denounced the Republicans and President Hoover for the "exorbitant and indefensible rates" of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act and promised to "lift tariff-making above the sordid processes of log-rollers and back-scratchers."

He excoriated the administration's farm policy and said the Democrats would undertake "to remove from the shoulders of agriculture a portion of the unnatural burden which it bears because others have been able to shift it there through special legislation in their own behalf."

Paying his respects to the [illegible] administration, the [illegible] called Calvin [illegible] President [illegible] Republican [illegible] of the government" [illegible] and added:

GRAIN PRICES IN LATE DROP

Values Follow New York Stocks, Slipping to New Low Mark.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO June 27—Affected by New York stock market weakness, grain values underwent late setbacks today more than cancelling an early advance.

Wheat fell to below 48 cents a bushel for July contracts, and came within a fraction of the season's low price record. Liquidation which broke out in corn had a bearish effect on all cereals toward the last.

Wheat closed nervous ⅜-½ under Saturday's finish, corn ⅝-1⅛ down and oats ⅜-½ off.

A "balanced" blend . . . the right Domestic and Turkish tobaccos in the right amounts . . . blended in a different way . . . "welded" together.

That's the Chesterfield Cross-Blend . . . an important reason why Chesterfields are milder and taste better.

It isn't just taking the tobaccos and mixing them hit-or-miss.

The Chesterfield Cross-Blend makes one type or one variety of tobacco partake of the qualities of another. It "welds" together all that is best in each variety.

It's a balanced blend in the truest sense . . . giving you what really amounts to a new kind of tobacco . . . Chesterfield tobacco . . . milder, more fragrant, better-tasting.

The two princes who remained with the king were not arrested.

Only a boy scout detachment and a few civilians were at the royal station to welcome the king.

The civilian leader of the peoples party is Luang Pradist Manudharm, a brilliant young man. It was generally expected the new constitution would provide some form of electoral franchise for the people.

The city was quiet over the week end.

WHITE REFUSES TO RELEASE DELEGATES

Seek Aid from Ohio Delegates

BY H. H. DAUGHERTY

Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO, June 27 — Forces seeking to nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt as the Democratic candidate for president sought aid from Ohio's delegation today without receiving much visible encouragement.

One Buckeye delegate at large, W. W. Durbin of Kenton, who has aligned himself with the Roosevelt group, however, appealed last night to Governor George White, the state's favorite son candidate, to release the Ohio delegation.

All of Ohio's 52 convention votes are pledged to the governor, but were they released at least several might turn to Roosevelt, the latter's managers believe.

Cox Studying Issue

Former Governor James M. Cox was in Chicago studying attempts of the Roosevelt forces to set aside the two-thirds convention rule. He already has denounced the abrogation attempts as unsportsmanlike and as not in the best interests of the party.

Former Senator Atlee Pomerene, who will nominate Governor White for President, and Brunner both issued statements opposing the Roosevelt strategy. Pomerene called the two-thirds rule "the unwritten law of the party for a hundred years."

"I fear the men who are urging this change are more interested in a candidate than in the Democratic party," he said. Governor White and former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, who is perhaps the leading "dark horse" of the convention, were among the other Ohio leaders who have joined in opposition to the proposed change in rules, and Brunner said he believed the Buckeye delegation would vote unanimously with them.

Durbin's telegram to Governor White asking him to follow the example of Senator J. H. Lewis of Illinois by withdrawing as a presidential candidate said: "You will become the biggest man in the United States if you do so." The Kenton delegate at large previously charged the governor, Brunner and Cox of "tying up with the power interests to defeat Roosevelt."

Unity Urged

At a dinner given last night by Harry N. Newman, New York, son of State Librarian John Henry Newman, for the Ohio delegation, speakers urged the delegation to "stick together to the last." The speakers were Senator Robert J. Bulkley, former Senator Atlee Pomerene, National Committeeman W. A. Julian, National Committeewoman Bernice S. Pyke and Chairman Henry G. Brunner.

A movement was started last night by the 10th district delegates in behalf of Mrs. Josephine McGowan of Canton to succeed Mrs. Pyke as national committeewoman, but whether her name will be presented to the caucus was said to depend upon the strength Mrs. McGowan develops before the meeting. Mrs. McGowan's friends claim there was an understanding four years ago at Houston that if she would not oppose Mrs. Pyke for reelection then Mrs. Pyke would not be a candidate for the position this year.

POLICE HERE OPEN WAR ON FIREWORKS

The police launched their annual war on premature Fourth of July celebrating last night when they arrested Ray Moody, 14, of 715 Davids street, on a charge of shooting firecrackers. He was later released for his appearance at police headquarters this morning, when he was given a lecture by Police Chief W. E. Marks.

There is a city ordinance prohibiting the shooting of fireworks in the city. Chief Marks said this morning and there will be a determined effort to enforce the law. "If necessary," the chief said, "we will lock up all offenders."

TENSION HIGH AS DEMOCRATS MEET

together and whisper of war and rumors of war.

Nearly every delegation was badged for its candidate and the trial of nearly a dozen aspirants to the nomination recalled with force the scene eight years ago in the opening session of the big break up at Madison Square Garden.

Marylanders, more than a hundred strong although they had but 16 votes among them, displayed high above their section huge placards urging the Democracy to "Win with Ritchie." Several of the candidates themselves were on the floor.

"Alfalfa Bill" Murray, who has his home state of Oklahoma and one delegate from North Dakota, got to the hall exactly an hour before the convening hour of noon.

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, crisp in cool looking white and a snappy new panama, came in to look for his fellow Mississippians and found only a row of empty benches.

Senator Huey Long, the Louisiana "Kingfish," took up his place on the flank of the state delegation. The Kingfish read and smoked placidly as the delegates crowded by him, exchanging greetings now and then.

But as usual not only most of the celebrities but the rank and file of delegates and on-lookers as well were very slow in arriving.

The hall itself was precisely the same riot of flags and bunting as when the Republicans met beneath its great roof ten days ago.

First Warm Up

As organ and band really warmed up to their work and began mixing state songs with the repertoire of popular melodies the convention began for the first time to respond with cheers and hand clapping.

To the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland," Governor Ritchie, as cool looking as ever despite the drowning swelter in the stadium, threaded his way to his seat amid an ovation.

William G. McAdoo, blue clad and smiling, found his place under the California standard with difficulty. When he passed the Texas delegates, pledged like McAdoo himself to Speaker Garner, the whole delegation rose and cheered him.

Jouett Shouse, the party's executive chairman, appeared on the platform and was much photographed. Almost at the same moment Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana came to his place in the Montana delegation unrecognized by the crowd.

The first parade of the convention was started around the hall by a Garner band. Behind marched the Texans with a huge picture of their candidate and the Californians carrying the Stars and Stripes beside their state flag. Convention officials got into action and the band filed out of the hall as a bevy of assistant sergeants-at-arms urged delegates and spectators to their seats.

At 20 minutes past noon John J. Raskob, the national chairman, asked for order but didn't get anything resembling it. The delegate section then was nearly filled but the galleries were more than half empty.

Trend Toward Roosevelt

Out of a whirl of week end developments had come unquestionable signs of a swing toward the Roosevelt candidacy, putting him within striking distance of the nomination unless his organization is wrecked meantime by the mounting dispute over the vital issues of permanent convention organization and rules. So serious were the defections on these issues, however, that even a telephone appeal by Governor Roosevelt himself last night apparently had failed of conclusive results.

The major split was over the proposal of the Roosevelt captains to ignore the hundred-year tradition of the two-thirds rule and nominate by a plain majority.

Opposed solidly by the non-Roosevelt delegations whose strength at least approaches half of the convention, this departure also had come under the displeasure of many Roosevelt delegates. Kentucky, North Carolina, Utah, New Mexico, Mississippi, Maine and Alaska all had either declared against the majority proposition or had shown signs of wavering. At a caucus of the big New York delegation the Rooseveltians mustered only a quarter of the votes.

Close Vote Expected

A check of the best information available indicated the result would be exceedingly close when the question is put to a convention vote, probably tomorrow, with a simple majority required to decide. This is all the more serious to Roosevelt since a defeat would be conceivably a blow to his prestige at a critical time.

Almost as close a division was indicated on the dispute over a permanent chairman of the convention, also to be decided tomorrow. Defections are certain among the Roosevelt delegations which have been asked by their leaders to support Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana against Jouett Shouse of Kansas.

The argument over this convention post had reached a stage of extraordinary sharpness. Through his manager, James A. Farley, Governor Roosevelt gave the lie to an earlier statement of Alfred E. Smith by declaring he never gave his word that Shouse would have his support. Shouse countered by making public a stenographic report of a meeting at which it was stated to him that the convention arrangements committee in commending him for the post had [illegible] approval.

In the final of the Roosevelt delegations [illegible] the two issues one [illegible] after a [illegible] James A. Reed secured a pledge from his wavering Missourians that they would stand [illegible]. Anti-Roosevelt leaders sought to rally the Illinois delegation [illegible] yesterday behind James Hamilton Lewis, behind Melvin Traylor, the Chicago banker, who almost became an active candidate by making a surprise speech at a delegation meeting declaring he would rather see the party defeated than victorious through demagogic appeal to class interest.

Opponents Strengthening Lines

Byrd of Virginia, Ritchie of Maryland, White of Ohio, Murray of Oklahoma and Garner leaders in the Texas delegation although not actively joining in the dispute, all were consolidating their lines against the pounding of the Roosevelt men.

In the midst of these fast stepping events today a convention session was like an oasis of quiet.

With the arrival yesterday of James M. Cox, all of the living former nominees of the party are here prepared to take up the fight for the two-thirds rule. It was reported today Cox would take the floor in its defense. So may Smith although John W. Davis, who also has objected to a change, probably will not.

Bitter Feuding Evident

With the dominant forces of Franklin Roosevelt divided and quarreling among themselves and the opposition rallying the convention was called together amid enmities and resentments seldom matched in party history.

So bitter was the undercurrent of strife that both leaders and delegates appeared almost uninterested in the actual convention proceedings, confined by custom to such peaceful preliminaries as listening to the party keynote and starting the parliamentary machinery to work. The real business begins tomorrow.

BARKLEY KEYNOTE SPEECH HITS G. O. P.

Accompanies Attack on Rival Party with Plea for Vote on Dry Repeal.

with fundamental causes and incapable even now in the midst of its fearful havoc of understanding the extent of its own mischief.

Calls for "Major Operation"

Declaring that "we must by a major operation remove from the body of our nation and the world, both of which are sick and dejected, the dead flesh and decayed bones resulting from 12 years of Republican quackery," Barkley continued:

"We must apply to the hopeful but misused patient the recuperative processes of a democracy which for a century and a half has responded to the emergencies which have always beset us at the end of every period of Republican control which lasted long enough for its virus to take effect."

Concerning the Eighteenth amendment, Barkley said "so long as it is a part of the Constitution no citizen of the republic has a legal or moral right to violate it," and added:

"Whatever may be the divergent views of men and women on the merits or demerits of the Eighteenth amendment as a national policy it is inconceivable that this or any other part of the Constitution of the United States should apply to only a part and not the whole of the American nation. That great instrument declares that this Constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof shall be the supreme law of the land. But it can not be the supreme law of the land if it can be abrogated by the people of a part of the land while remaining in force over the rest of them. Such a conception destroys the very nature and structure of the Constitution, for if it can be made thus to qualify one of its provisions it may be made to qualify all of them. This would be the end of the Constitution itself.

Urges Clear Declaration

"Under these circumstances this convention owes it to the people of the nation to make its declaration upon this subject clear, understandable and unequivocal. There is no reason why the people should be deceived or deluded. There is no reason why a political declaration should look in every direction and see nothing.

"In order, therefore, to obtain the present will of the American people on this subject of universal controversy, this convention should in the platform here to be adopted recommend the passage by congress of a resolution repealing the Eighteenth amendment and its submission to the people of the states through conventions whose delegates shall be chosen upon this issue alone.

"If the people are to pass again upon this question let them pass upon it in such bald, naked and unequivocal terms as to make their decision intelligent and certain.

"If their verdict shall be in favor of retaining the Eighteenth amendment in the Constitution let every true citizen of the nation accept the decision and abide by it in letter and in spirit.

"If the verdict shall be for the repeal of the amendment then let every branch of the national government exercise all the powers they possess to protect the states in the observance and enforcement of the laws which they shall enact to control, regulate or prohibit the traffic in intoxicating liquors."

The temporary chairman went back [illegible] and reviewed the [illegible] ter[illegible] years of Republican leadership.

The Harding administration he described as "the darkest chapter of political betrayal in the history of this or any nation."

On President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon he heaped the blame for "an orgy of speculation and inflation that [illegible] foundation in real values."

"Stocks were manipulated, prices [illegible] then split up, then distributed among innocent people under the opiate of fabulous financial hopes [illegible] the most gigantic campaign of official ballyhooing ever witnessed in the annals of American history," he exclaimed.

Under President Coolidge, Barkley said, expenses of the national government increased more than $[illegible]. He gave credit to the present Democratic House for refusing President Hoover's requests for appropriations by more than $[illegible].

He promised that the Democrats would abolish every useless office, every unnecessary board and commission which has grown by what it fed on until the total has become an insufferable weight upon all the activities and resources of the American people.

"They will never be abolished by those who now operate them," he said. "A new Hercules must clean out these Augean stables."

Program Recommended

In dealing with the tariff Barkley proposed that the Democrats [illegible] friendly international trade conferences with a view to reopening normal trade channels in the world and make the tariff commission a fact finding body for congress.

For agriculture's relief he advocated the enactment of laws setting up cooperative agencies through which the farmer may work out his own problems over a period of years, taking the government out of the dubious adventure of speculation in farm products, and installation at the head of the department of agriculture a secretary who has some knowledge of the subject and some sympathy for those who struggle with it.

For strengthening the banking structure he proposed giving consideration to revision of the federal reserve act to insure more direct contact with commercial banks and borrowers.

Speaking of unemployment he ridiculed "fine spun distinctions between local and national responsibility" and deplored "sophomoric dispute over the identity of first aid while the nation's defenders or their dependers suffer from want or neglect."

"Society," he said, "must find a way by which members displaced by invention and advances may sustain themselves and their families in comfort and self respect."

He advocated the consideration of the five-day week or the six hour day as a possible solution of employment problems growing out of the country's industrial advance.

Concluding, Barkley said "in all the generations of American history the people in every great crisis have turned to the Democratic party to lead them from the wilderness of disappointment and disaster.

"It will be so in 1932," he shouted, "when the principles here announced and the leaders here chosen will in the name of a people betrayed, bewildered [illegible] fed redeem for them a [illegible] spoiled and made barren [illegible] who know not the ways of [illegible] or of providence.

"Such a nation [illegible] need only the glimmer of [illegible] hope, the inspiration of a [illegible] the stimulus of a new [illegible] and the marching order [illegible] commander.

"That hope, that [illegible] the cry that commands [illegible] present to them ere we [illegible] journ this convention [illegible] the choice no less of fa[illegible] city dwellers. He will [illegible] enced and tested in [illegible] tional than in state affa[illegible] chosen to the high stat[illegible] unto we shall commit [illegible] pledge his dedication to [illegible] of the whole nation [illegible] no class or creed or sect."

SUNDAY was quiet in many places, not in Chicago Election betting has started Huey Long a powerful personality from Louisiana who is sorry he ever went to the senate bets $1 000 against $500 that Governor Roosevelt will carry Texas by at least 100 000 regardless of bitterness about the two-thirds rule.

Ladies talking politics in Chicago decide that for some time to come bread lines will be more important than party lines

Mrs D A McDougal of Sapulpa Okla is glad women are paying more attention to bread lines than waistlines or skirtlines above the knees or below the ankles

Unless something is done soon the bread line may become the only important line in America

Port of Spain Trinidad tells of a frail bearded Spanish mystic suddenly coming from the mountains to the village of St Helena to announce that within six months the world will be burned up

A hundred times the end of the world has been announced and believed At the beginning of the year 1000 many sold their lands and goods for next to nothing put on white robes and went up into the mountains to be as near heaven as possible when the end came It did not come and won't come in one hundred million years

The late Andrew D White president of Cornell university tells of a Jewish prophet who long after Christ announced himself as The Messiah gathered a great following and announced that he could walk upon the water and that those that believed in him could do the same He walked down a steep bank into deep water followed by a big crowd All were drowned Leaders in superstition often believe what they say That makes them dangerous

WHILE OUR GOVERNMENT talks sweet nothings about disarmament the British listen murmuring By all means but they continue building bigger and better airplane bombers while we suggest that such wicked machines be abolished

Last Saturday the British air minister showed at Hendon a new gigantic bomber secretly built capable of doing 200 miles an hour four miles above the earth Two hundred and fifty thousand paid admission a quarter of a million more gathered outside the airdrome

A night bomber was also displayed scores of pursuit planes were sent up in mimic warfare to attack the bombing machines

Pilots in the airplane squads participating included scores of bank clerks and other civilians at most as skillful as Britain's army and navy fliers

Britain talks disarmament as sweetly as anybody but goes ahead with plans to rule the ocean of air as she has so long ruled the water ocean

OHIO FARMERS USE MODERN METHODS

Plan Crop Improvement on Facts from Research, O S U Expert Says

By International News Service

COLUMBUS O June 27 —Ohio farmers are planning their soil improvement programs on facts obtained through scientific research instead of on superstitions about the moon and guesses according to E J Salter soils specialist for the agricultural extension service at Ohio State university Salter has analyzed more than 3000 soil samples mailed him by farmers throughout the state this year

Upon receipt of the samples which are mailed in small brown tubes they are analyzed for acidity and available plant nutrients such as nitrogen phosphoric acid and potash Practically all soils in the state show a need for lime unless lime has been applied

Farmers sending samples in for analysis also include a detailed statement of the cropping system followed the number of pounds of livestock on the farm the number of tillable acres on the farm and acres in field

From the soil analysis and these records about each farm recommendations are made on the best rate to apply manure and what crops to use it on the kind of fertilizers to use on different crops and how to apply it the necessary rate of liming and whether or not the tile drainage should be installed In this way Salter points out the individual farmer is able to plan his program of facts obtained through hundreds of tests at the agricultural experiment stations and to supplant costly guesses with tested information

Because of the present farm situation the recommendations this year suggest minimum quantities of fertilizers and the use of legumes to keep up the nitrogen supply of the soil

Tips on CONTRACT

TRIUMPH AT THE WRONG MAKE

By Tom O'Neil

Some of the greatest thrills at contract come to the declarer when accidentally he finds himself playing a contract he had no intention of attempting and succeeding with it

A hand that gave F T Engelking of New York a thrill was one in which he made a little slam at clubs holding only three of them He meant to raise his partner's five diamond bid to six diamonds In advertently he said five clubs an insufficient bid

He then could have bid six diamonds but in his excitement thought he had to say six clubs Because of Engelking's insufficient bid his partner the original diamond bidder was debarred from the contracting Engelking found the trumps nicely distributed and was able to finesse a nine spot successfully

Engelking was the partner of Lewis Osborne managing director of the Deschapelles club New York when the following hand was dealt

♦Q J 9 7 6 4

WEST

SOUTH

♣A K 10 7

South opened with a bid of one diamond west passed and north bid two diamonds East passed and south jumped to five diamonds West passed again and then came Engelking's slip and bid of six clubs which was passed all around

East led his fourth best heart the six which was taken by the declarer's ace Engelking led the nine of clubs east played the eight dummy the seven Another club led by Engelking put dummy in and north's last trump was utilized to ruff a heart A diamond lead put south in again to pick up east's last trump The knave of spades was finessed to east's king but that was the only trick lost by the declarer

Engelking was fortunate in finding the adverse trumps evenly divided with the queen knave and eight in the east hand and also lucky in that each opponent had one diamond

Lucci would just as soon knock off another man as crack a peanut. But I'm not sure Williams was a harmless little squid and hadn't been arguing with either of them. That leaves only the three of us, Hamilton and Martin. You boys didn't do it, did you?"

Jerry and Emory stared at him incredulously, but the old blue eyes were serious.

"Well, of course I really didn't think you did," he hastened to inform them. "But it doesn't seem a likely thing for anybody to do and this heat and everything certainly plays hell with a feller's state of mind.

"Now this killing of the guard," he went on, "was another matter. Anybody—the three of us even—would have had a motive there in getting his gun and ammunition. But I was cold-blooded as the devil, a thing I wouldn't want to do. If it hadn't been for the killing of Williams a few minutes later I'd have blamed it on Lucci. He's always sneaking around here at all hours of the day or night. It's a wonder the guards haven't shot him long ago. But I can't see him bumping Williams off. That's where my engine misses fire every time. I guess I'm not as bright as I used to be."

"I've had about enough of it," declared Jerry, a reckless gleam in his gray eyes. "You fellows keep your eye on me and when I start something be ready to jump right into the middle of it. I haven't been in a good old fashioned knock down and drag out bar room brawl for so long that I'm beginning to crave action."

"Wish I'd brought along a couple of older men," complained Stevens plaintively. "It's all right to fight when there isn't any other way to get out of trouble. But the older you get the more peaceable you become. You just jump a second too soon or a second too late, young man, and that Limpy will empty a whole clip into you before you reach him."

Jerry's face bore a stubborn expression which the detective's words failed to erase. The flyer was fed up with inaction and was determined to force things to a conclusion. The sooner the better.

Emory, a wide smile on his reckless face, cared little what happened as long as something happened soon. He was enjoying every minute of his stay on the island. Not since the armistice had his nerves tingled with such pleasurable anticipation of impending action as they did here, where every moment which passed in peace brought the inevitable crisis just that much closer. Even the thought that the murderer might pick him as his next victim did not decrease his happiness by a single whit. He believed he could take care of himself and the excitement of the moment would make the experience a delightful one. Emory's only conscious dread was of the days, months and years of probable boredom to come when this adventure had reached whatever conclusion was destined for it.

"Look," exclaimed Stevens. "Here comes Miss Wentworth. In a hurry, too."

The girl was approaching through the scrub, her face pale and drawn with emotion.

"Oh, Mr. Calhoun," she gasped. "I must get off this island this morning."

"What's the matter?" demanded Jerry and Emory at the same moment. She had not been as overwrought and nervous during those horrible few minutes after Williams' murder.

"Ashwood is making me marry him. That plane has gone after a minister."

The three men glared at her in amazement. Jerry, his face suddenly pale, rose quickly to his feet and turned toward the house.

"Come on, you fellows," he said quietly. "Here's where the lid blows off."

Emory, smiling contentedly, rose and started after his friend. Stevens sat still, watching them quizzically.

"Where you fellers going?" he called.

Jerry stopped in mid stride.

"The houseparty's going to break up now," he snapped. "I'm going to take Ashwood apart to see what makes him tick."

"And what are the guards going to be doing?" asked the detective curiously.

"Are you coming?" demanded Jerry shortly.

"Uh huh, in just a minute. If you'll sit down and plan things a little bit first. I never was one to rush right into trouble. Come on, sit down. Five or ten minutes isn't going to make or break anything."

Jerry and Emory hesitated. Their fighting blood was at the boiling point and logic was not what they wanted.

"Sit down, will you?" The detective's voice was petulant. "Do you want to do the best thing for Miss Wentworth or do you just want to fight?"

They sat down. Emory looked decidedly sulky.

"All right," said Stevens. "Now, Miss Wentworth, you sit down too and tell us all about it. We'll get things fixed up somehow. If we have to fight, I reckon we can do a pretty good job. If a little finagling around will settle things we'll do that. But tell us what it's all about."

She glanced at him gratefully and sank to the ground. His quiet, kindly voice impressed her with confidence. Hesitantly, laconically, she told them of Ashwood's plans for her abduction.

"Phew," Emory whistled at the conclusion of her story. "The little guy has nerve enough, I'll hand him that."

Jerry had fought down his impulse for swift, decisive action.

"How about a marriage license?" he asked.

"He didn't mention that," replied the girl simply.

"The fliers might be able to get one wherever they're going after the minister," hazarded the old man.

"I wonder," ventured Jerry hesitantly, "whether he would have threatened to carry you away if you had been married already."

"No telling," said Stevens positively. "You can't guess the way that feller's mind will turn. It's a fifty fifty bet."

"I don't believe he would take a married woman off," stated Emory. "That bird has a code of moral all his own."

"Well, I'm not married," she said flatly, "so there's no guessing about it."

"It might be worth taking a chance on," observed Jerry, a spot of red on each cheek bone. She looked at him, not understanding. "When is this marriage business going to be pulled off?"

"Tonight or tomorrow morning, I think." Her voice was discouraged. "Ashwood plans to leave here tomorrow."

"What?" demanded all three men at once.

"Yes, didn't you know? He says we can be at his yacht by tomorrow evening."

"Looks like we stand ready to lose our share of the reward," mourned Stevens. "Unless something happens tonight there doesn't seem much chance for us to claim the rescue of the kidnaped folks. We can't very well collect on them if Limpy turns them loose of his own accord. I just knew I wasn't going to get that pecan grove so easy."

Emory laughed and slapped the old man on the back. But Jerry had not been listening. When he spoke his face was red.

"If we can get a chance to work on the minister first he might marry you to someone else—to me, for instance," he added desperately.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lillian Finds a Fund of Vital Information in the Code Message Sent by Marion

"PLEASE," I said huskily as Lillian said Marion had turned the trick with her code letter, "won't you tell me what it all means?"

"I forgot," she said contritely, "that your nerves are all shot too. Come over here and I'll explain this. We'll have plenty of time for we can't do a thing until the men get back."

I drew my chair close to hers and drawing a deep breath as if she were girding herself for a race, she plunged into her explanation.

Decoding Marion's Note

"As I told you, she began the salutation 'Dear Momsy'—spelled with an o—means that she is held a prisoner somewhere and can only address me in code. Then a little later she says 'Momsy sweetie' at the end of a sentence. That means that all of the letter and the directions in it are true, that we can depend on them. If 'Momsy sweetie' had been at the beginning of a sentence it would have meant something else."

"The reverse?" I queried quickly.

"You have the same thought as I had," she answered, "that her memory might have become mixed as to the meaning of the differing positions. But there is another expression in the book meaning 'letter all false' which she has not used."

"Then you can be sure that they are well cared for and comfortable," I said, trying to ignore the pitiful plea I remembered at the end of the letter. "Please do anything to get the money. Caroline and I are awfully scared."

She looked at me searchingly, and her next words revived my old conviction that she has psychic powers.

"I don't wonder you're puzzled," she said. "That plea at the end doesn't sound like Marion and it was evidently put in either at the behest of the kidnapers or because the girls wished to mislead them. Here in the code book is a line saying that anything written after the words 'Good-bye Momsy' and signed Marian instead of Marion, is to be taken with reverse meaning. You notice Carolyn's name is misspelled also, so I think we are justified in assuming that neither girl is awful scared."

"I can imagine both of them rather reveling in the adventure and its danger if they were not worried about your reaction and Helena's."

"Which they probably consider they assuaged by now," Lillian said grimly. "But I really am heartened, although I am sure we are dealing with desperate people."

"There are five of them with the girls," she said, "three men and two women."

"How—" I began, but cut the question short as she went on, apparently not hearing my interruption.

"You notice that she uses the word 'nice' five times close together, making the letter sound like the comments of an English waitress upon the food she is serving. The code Marion devised long ago provides that any word repeated thus in such manner as to be noticeable shall denote the number of jailers in her prison. If the first letters of the word were more heavily shaded than the last, men were meant. If the reverse, women. Yes, she might not have remembered, but her shading reads three men and two women, which is plausible—and probable."

"The women are probably as desperate as the men," I said, as she paused and looked at me.

More Information

"And more dangerous," she added. "But at least we know how many are there. If we can find the place and storm it. With the trusted men your father and Harry can muster, it ought to be easy to smoke the skunks out, once we've surprised them. Our men will have every possible weapon, from tear gas bombs up and down."

"But," I asked in a panic, "won't there be danger that the kidnapers will do away with the girls if they are rushed?"

"I doubt them. [illegible] newspapers at the time she certainly worked it overtime. For instance 'business' spelt incorrectly meant 'furniture heavy, can be used to block door successfully' and the word 'had' before 'business' meant 'can lie down out of range of floor and window.'"

An Ingenious Code

I think my face expressed my astonished admiration for she suddenly nodded.

"Yes, it's as ingenious as it is far fetched," she said. "You see it's an arbitrary code—had to be so that no one but the holder of the code book could guess it, and a single word had to mean a great deal. I'll let you look the book over after awhile and you'll see that she provided for every possible contingency, and some that were impossible.

"She imagined herself sending for help from a cave, a mountain fastness, a deserted coal mine, a ship, a motor boat, a city flat and numerous other places, and had words for describing each so that I could find her. But how she has remembered all these years I can't imagine."

"You mean," I asked breathlessly, "that she has told you how to find them?"

Four Year Old Girl Ready To Launch Career

By International News Service

CANTON, O., June 27 The road to fame may be full of bumps and discouragement, but four-year old Tiny Seccombe has no fear for her future, only ambitions and hopes.

Just three feet three inches in height, Tiny has started out at an early age to test her way to the top of the movie world. After much training and practice she soon will leave for the film capital of Hollywood where her destiny lies.

For two years little Miss Seccombe has been studying, training and striving to reach her chosen goal and she does not mind telling you that it's a screen test with the prospects of having her name in bright lights if she makes good. And she knows she will.

Step by step Tiny has crawled up the ladder that leads to fame solely on her ability as an actress and under the watchful eyes of her tutor, Mrs. J. Rush.

She can ... a love song and her facial expression can depict any desired emotion. She can laugh and cry at will and then she can be very solemn or angry as any one might desire.

Her professional friends include Rudy Vallee, who arranged an audition in New York for her, and Jean Harlow, famous platinum blond of the movies. In her New York audition Tiny was offered a contract to appear in a night club, but she refused to accept an invitation from Miss Harlow to go west and make a test for the screen.

America's Unsatisfied Hunger

Gratitude is due the writer who can extricate from the formidable mass of evidence confronting an observing mind a sufficient number of related facts to furnish the basis for a new thought. It is a privilege to express gratitude to Roy Helton author of the leading article in the current issue of Harper's magazine

"It seems to me that the chief political economic and social discontents of American life and of world life in our present industrial civilization have the one simple and common cause that we have sold out to the future" is Mr Helton's thought. In whole or partial agreement the reader will grant attentive hearing to the argument

Desire to make the future better than the past Mr Helton shows compels a crescendo of evasions from the life of today into the life of tomorrow. The mistake lies in failure to understand that the future is in no way subject to control. Only the present can be made better than the past but the immediate present which should be of prime importance when the span of life is limited to three score and 10 years is made a temporary resting place instead of a satisfactory habitation

Americans have been betrayed by dreams of what lies around the corner. Harsh as Mr Helton is in his criticism he fails to point out that the nation not only has sold out to the future but it has sold out the future. Huge bond issues payable by members of the next generation and their great grandchildren have secured present advantages for which posterity will pay the price. Can posterity be blamed for repudiation?

An interesting detail of the exposition concerns the structure of the law. In 1920 Americans sought by regular legislative means to take care of the future by the 18th amendment to the Constitution. Twelve years is not very far into the future but already one of the nation's most troublesome problems has been posed by unwillingness to accept a provision of the instrument which must stand the test of time. An established function of legislative bodies is the repeal of obsolete laws yet the future fixers continue to pass laws without tenure restrictions. Men of vision who are forced to confess that they failed yesterday are hailed as worthy prophets today. Adults yield to the citizens of tomorrow, in the home and in public councils. Life is managed as if universal assurance had been given that it could be repeated; men build for tomorrow and die restless today

Mr Helton does not dare to say that change can be made but his conclusion is in the tone of a recommendation. "At such a troubled hour" he advises "what we need most is enough wisdom to accept now the opportunity of our rich earth and enough generosity to those unborn to renounce with every energy of life the desire to be the lords of any human destiny but our own. Is it audacious to hope that the depression which has been the means of forcing a more accurate appraisal of values may bring that wisdom to a sufficient number of Americans to make a difference in the national attitude?"

"Buy British"

The importance of the British imperial conference at Ottawa next month could not be exaggerated. American eyes now turned to Washington will find plenty of interest in anything that may be done. Were it not for this nation's narrow isolationist trade policy as a matter of fact the coming Ottawa conference might not be nearly so important. The United States is a bad example for its rising neighbor to the north for example

For the sake of the British Empire it would be highly desirable if the policy of tariff for protection could be eliminated from all consideration. The dominions constituting a potential market for the motherland's manufactured products should be willing to let down their bars in return for the privilege of selling their agricultural produce back to her. But the dominions have become inconveniently independent insisting on stopping something short of halfway to the desired position and defending their own manufacturers and laborers with protective tariffs

Unfortunately there is not the natural alliance between the mother and her brood that the mother desires. Advantages according to her plan would be mutual. The dominions suspect however that they would be left holding the bag; the motherland has more to gain than they from a policy of empire free trade

It is a significant comment on the relation between the United States and Canada to point out that the Canadian attitude in the forthcoming conference will be influenced to a considerable extent by huge American investments north of the border. There is as a matter of fact reason to wonder sometimes if American capital hasn't hit upon the best plan to handle the tariff problem—transferring itself inside tariff walls. The British empire can not do that. Its very foundation will be questioned at Ottawa next month

Good Advice.

The college commencement season has become an annual occasion for the giving of good advice on a national scale. A digest of all the speeches made this year or any year would contain at least one remark on every problem that has arisen to vex mankind

[illegible] emphasis has been placed this year on what may be called the [illegible] of intelligence [illegible] [illegible]. Newton D Baker at Yale asked what happens to the nation's intelligence after [illegible] at the same time that [illegible] here over the country were addressing graduating classes at commencement [illegible] in the same [illegible]. Americans have expected great things [illegible] of an enlightened citizenry. They have spent billions to construct and extend an educational system. But the products it is turning out are defective. They only look like educated people; they act no differently from people of the streets

Sweeping skepticism of the nation's ability to create and train intelligence better able to deal with human problems than were yesterday's intellects is placing education in a defense position where it may easily come to find itself dangerously throttled. Municipalities struggling with bond issues for educational purposes; states confronted with intricate problems of fiscal administration and the best minds perplexed over failure of college trained people to accept and perform responsibilities and deeds worthy of their supposedly superior quality—these are signs of the times

They are intensely significant. From the time of the founding fathers even to now universal education has been a cherished dream. Already it has been realized to the extent that a child in Ohio may complete a 12 year course of instruction entirely at public expense and continue his education at cost in a state university. Huge obligations have been assumed by the people in the hope that they would be more than repaid in results. It was inevitable that sooner or later the results would be questioned severely. Such questioning now is common from the taxpayer on up to the great man who stands before a college graduating class and instructs its members to go into the world and show that they are better able to manage it for having trained minds

Government's Golden Calf

It would not be surprising to see in every public building a miniature automobile erected on a pedestal with revenue experts kneeling all around it. What a blessing it has been to them that Americans have come to regard the automobile as a necessity but do not yet object violently to having it taxed as a luxury

Every time an Ohio motorist pulls up to a gasoline pump he can reflect bitterly that the revenue agents have seen him coming in time to get the stage set. Every time the bell on the pump indicates that another gallon has gone into the tank he gives a nickle to tax spenders—four cents to Columbus and one cent to Washington. If he buys oil he contributes a penny. If he buys a new tire he contributes some more

The comforting thought that it all goes to help build better roads serves the purpose no longer. Federal revenue goes wherever it is needed most—to pay the relatives of a congressman to buy mineral water for the benefit of thirsty officials, to help pay for a battleship, to make up part of the pension of a retired officer or to be lost in the infinite expanse of the public debt. Indirectly a part of it may trickle back to pay for a square foot of paving on a highway built with the assistance of the federal government. The tribute exacted from the state from motorists is coming more and more to be used for general purposes also

Fortunately both for officials responsible for levying taxes and people who drive automobiles taxes on gasoline oil tires and the car itself are still less painful than their severity indicates they should be. How long will it be one wonders until increasing resentment will make tax evasion a major problem in this field too?

HOW CITIES RUN IN DEBT

An individual or a business which goes deeper into debt at a time when income is steadily declining is open to the accusation of financial incompetence. This is exactly what American cities are doing however. It is one of the reasons for the increasing painfulness of taxpaying and the growing difficulty of collecting taxes

The appalling story of 310 American cities is revealed by C E Rightor of the Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research in the National Municipal Review. Reduce this load of municipal debt which runs into the billions to the terms of what the average citizen owes as sustaining partner and it appears that he owes $114. His obligation has been growing even since the good times ended in 1929 at the rate of more than 6 per cent a year. Municipal debt is one of those things which goes up a great deal easier than it comes down

Clevelanders are better off in this respect than residents of most other big cities. Which may explain why our financial woes have been a bit less overwhelming than those of [illegible]. Our per capita debt figure is $[illegible] against $[illegible] for New York, $[illegible] for Philadelphia [illegible] for Detroit. Oddly enough Chicago whose financial mess sets new lows for [illegible] has a smaller per capita debt than Cleveland or $107

An accurate comparison of such financial items is always difficult to make [illegible] American cities. In one [illegible] city debt includes school obligations and in [illegible] self supporting [illegible] waterworks and light plants [illegible] complicate the comparison

But the [illegible] of municipal debt is something for city taxpayers to worry about. Not should [illegible] [illegible] will make up their minds [illegible].—Cleveland Plain Dealer

Doctors Study Ductless Glands

Everybody is interested in maintaining youth and health. From earliest times men have searched for the Fountain of Youth and even though they didn't find it they did discover other wonders of the world

It is about twenty five years since we were startled by the announcement of the discovery of the ductless glands in their relation to the life processes. Many false claims were made of course and there sprung into being various fads and cults promising everlasting youth

Medical science has disproved such unwarranted claims but interest in these glands has stimulated much experimental work. Valuable information has been added to our knowledge of these important glands. It is definitely known that the various glands of the body have important functions and that any interference in their normal activity produces serious results

There are several varieties of glands. Those which manufacture secretion and have no ducts or canals to carry away the secretion called ductless glands have a decided effect upon growth development health and the general well being of the body

The thyroid gland in the neck is ductless and has an internal secretion of a substance called thyroxin. Decrease or entire absence of this secretion results in an unpleasant condition known as myxedema in which the face is swollen the skin is dry and rough and the hair falls out

Myxedema is found in adults and children. When children suffer from this affliction they are called cretins. They show retarded physical development and are mentally backward

The parathyroid glands also are ductless. There are four of these glands and they are neighbors to and closely associated with the thyroid gland. It is only within recent years that we have known much about them. When their secretions are interfered with or destroyed a disease called tetany results. In this ailment there is a decrease in the amount of lime in the blood and this produces marked spasms of the muscles of the body

In a recent article I spoke about a terrifying ailment known as Addison's disease and pointed out that this disease is caused by a disturbance of the adrenal glands. These too are ductless glands and they produce an internal secretion called "adrenalin."

Addison's disease is characterized by marked muscular weakness. The skin becomes unusually pigmented and changes in color all the way from a bright yellow to a deep brown or black. Until recently Addison's disease has been fatal

The pituitary gland the pineal gland and other ductless glands influence the general mechanism and health of the body. Disturbance in any one of them causes definite changes in growth and development. Growth may be so stimulated as to create giants or so retarded as to create dwarfs

It is hoped that in future years science will completely master these baffling and important glandular disturbances as the search for the Fountain of Youth continues

GLACIER MARKS AT CLIFF

In the operation of the Marble Cliff Quarries company west of Columbus a considerable area of the top of the limestone exposed by stripping reveals the grooving of the rock surface by the ice mass that glided down over all this portion of the country in the glacial age for those interested in this phenomenon to look at

Not all the surface shows this. Perhaps by reason of lying a little lower some of it was not firmly pressed down upon by the ice sheet. But it may be that it was planed off too and subsequently became water worn. Some sections show irregular lines as though made by large worms eons before as they crawled over the substance from which these rocks were made while it was still soft

It is referred to as an ice-sheet but that term is apt to give the notion that it was a rather thin sheet. On the contrary it is believed to have been hundreds of feet—even thousands of feet—in thickness. The late Dr George F Wright of Oberlin who gave years of study to the results of the work of the glacial ice placed it at probably 9000 feet in thickness

Mount Washington in New Hampshire is one elevation on the glaciated area that was not surmounted by the ice sheet, and marks made on its sides by the ice give very reliable measurements of the thickness of the ice sheet. These were used by Dr Wright in making his estimate of the thickness of it

The ice sheet carried along on its under surface innumerable pieces of granite which being much harder than the limestone cut grooves in it and these are now beautifully revealed at Marble Cliff. The direction of the motion of the ice mass varied somewhat as influenced by the existing typography but the grooves exposed at Columbus run northeast and southwest as though the mass were moving directly down from its Labrador origin.

A group of [illegible] played battledore and [illegible] with the topic [illegible] at Bill Solomon's corner table in the Casino last night. The idea was this: In a lifetime how many true friends does one accumulate? It was put more concretely thus: If you were in jail in Seville where you knew not a soul how many men—or women for that matter—could you wire with your last nickel asking aid with any hope of reply? After considerable thought one celebrated novelist declared he could think of only three men and one woman who would respond in such emergency. [illegible] from the list half a dozen [illegible] he might wire $10 and advise him to lead a better life

Every now and then I drop into the sedate cinema The Cameo on West 42nd street reminding some how of those brave little magazines of poetry that die to make verse free. Shortcomings of Mankind Theme of Union Sermon

"The common disease of mankind is shortsightedness" Rev Howard L Oewiler of the First Presbyterian church said in the first of the summer union church services held last night at the First Reformed church Rev Oewiler spoke on "Open His Eyes" from Kings II 6 17

Rev Oewiler said in part as follows "The average man fails to see the final outcome of his action outlook plans and policies Crying for peace and work when the forces which destroy peace and work are wrapped up within his nature within his selfishness and hate

"What a spectacle man is Crying for peace while at the same time he little realizes that he is getting loose the genius of war through his personality though some petty hate and narrow nationalism Crying for an opportunity to work perhaps condemning this institution or that person for our dreadful affairs while at the same time he is not aware that he is letting loose upon the earth a spirit of get selfishness willing to give little but get much the very force and spirit which creates economic disorder

"We are responsible for our present situation It is not a problem of governments nor democracies nor as nor politics and social leadership nor leagues Our problem is one of vision of a greater vision [illegible] Where there is no vision the people perish We must see what is involved and where our present way of thinking and living is leading us

"Our eyes must be opened that we may see the true implications of life Our present distress is due to the fact that our vision is impaired and the general mass of mankind fail to see the final outcome and implication of their policies Hence confusion and chaos The average human being has created the problem and the average man must solve it

"When Jehovah touched the eyes of Elisha's servant he saw the ultimate issue and he moved from confusion to strength The touch of Christ will lead us out of our depressing condition and we shall be lifted into a new tomorrow Our need is a baptism of Christ's spiritual touch"

Pittsburgh Pirates To Invade Lincoln Park Tuesday

BUCCO REGULARS TO PLAY; GAME CALLED FOR PROMPTLY AT 3

Mayor W. C. Phillipns To Throw Out First Ball, Strong Marion Lineup

Everything is in readiness at Lincoln park today for the invasion Tuesday afternoon of the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National baseball league. The Buccaneers will cross bats with an all-star team composed of stars from Marion and the surrounding area at 3 p. m. Tuesday. Mayor W. C. Phillips will toss the first ball across the plate when the leadoff batter in the Marion lineup strides to the rubber in the opening frame.

Blanchard (Dutch) Drumm will manage the club which opposes the major league outfit. He has lined up about as powerful an array of talent as could be assembled here for the battle. Drumm will have three pitchers at his disposal for the conflict. Harve Ferner of Kenton, a giant right hander, is slated to start the mound chores. If the going gets too rough he will be relieved by Schwartz, a Lima pitcher with a good record and lots of experience in professional ball. Bill Darnell, Marion portsider, will also be in uniform.

Cross at First.

Drumm will have Slick Cross of Crestline on the initial sack with Francis Bacon at second, Alex Shoup at shortstop and Johnny Marshall at third base. Don Penry will be in right field, Glenn Price in center and Hipp, a Crestline man who played with the House of David here last season, will be in left. Owen Griffith of Marysville will start behind the plate.

Utility Marion players will be Ping Rizor, Milt Pohler and Eddie Sawyer, infielders; Kenneth Gallant, catcher, and Fido Robbins, outfielders.

Bert Curtis, well known in baseball here, will be umpire in chief. Ed Johnson of Prospect and Jim Lytle, formerly of Marion, will take care of the base umpiring.

The advance ticket sale for the game indicates a capacity crowd at the North side park. Seating accommodations are available for no more than 1,500 persons. The game is slated to start promptly at 3.

Regulars To Play.

The management of the Pittsburgh club has guaranteed to play their first string lineup at least part of the game, with the exception of their battery corps. Manager George Gibson has not indicated who will start on the hill or behind the plate. However, disregarding the pitching and catching end of the lineup the Pirates will put an array of talent on the field which includes some of the best ball players in the National league.

The batting lineups of the teams will probably be about as follows:

Marion	Pirates
Hipp lf	L. Waner cf
Penry rf	P. Waner rf
Cross 1b	Vaughan ss
Bacon 2d	Traynor 3b
Price cf	Barbee lf
Shoup ss	Suhr 1b

ROUGH BOUTS LIKELY ON WRESTLING CARD

Vangler, Ashby Expected To Draw Large Crowd to Shovel Arena Tonight.

There isn't likely to be much difference between the feature battle and the semi final bout tonight on the regular weekly wrestling program slated to start at 8:30 p. m. at the open air arena at the Shovel athletic field on Uncapher avenue. Sammy Vangler, the tough little few from Parkersburg, West Va., will meet Spike Ashby, the Chicago south sider, in the two hour time limit bout. Martin Zikhoff, the Austrian heavyweight, will tackle a newcomer, John Lyko, in the semi final.

Neither of the battles are likely to be included in the powder puff classification by any means. Vangler and Ashby just don't know how to wrestle without making use of every dirty tactic which their wrestling brain has at their disposal. Zikhoff and Lyko are not so bad as Vangler and Ashby on ordinary occasions but when they get together tonight the match is expected to turn into more of an "anything goes" battle than anything else.

Vangler has been packing in the fans ever since he started appearing here some weeks ago and the advance sale of tickets makes it appear likely that tonight's program will see another near capacity crowd filing through the turnstiles of the West side outdoor arena.

In case rain or threatening weather prevents holding the card at the outdoor arena on Uncapher avenue it will be transferred to the Steam Shovel gymnasium on west Center street. The matches will start at 8:30 p. m. whether indoors or at the open air arena.

FINDLAY RALLIES TO COP SOFTBALL MEET AT NORTH SIDE PARK

Marion Tumbled by Late Uprising; Columbus, Mansfield Lose in First Games.

Staging a pair of rallies in the late innings that produced a total of seven tallies, the Prager Clothiers softball team of Findlay came from behind to win over the Schulte Cigar stores of Marion yesterday afternoon in the weekly tourney at Lincoln park and walked off with the cup presented to the winner of each of the weekly meets. The final score of the game was 9-5.

In the two preliminary conflicts the Findlay nine bested the A. J. Hill Undertakers of Columbus without difficulty, winning by an 11-0 score behind the two-hit pitching of Punk Mains, and the Schulte Cigars rode over the Mansfield team by a 6-2 score as Gene Gunder set the losers down with only one safety.

Neither the first nor the second preliminary games measured up to the contests which are usually presented in the Sunday meets. However, the final nine-inning battle provided enough softball for an entire afternoon.

Pitchers Derricked.

Punk Mains and Bob Walters started on the mound for the final fray but neither was able to go the entire route. Walters lasted only until the first two men were out as the Findlay boys found no difficulty in slamming his tosses for hits. Two men were across before he was replaced by Shorty Richards. Mains held the Marion nine in check until the last of the seventh. McKitrick then replaced him as he showed signs of tiring rapidly, having pitched 13 innings up to that time.

McKitrick set the Schulte nine down the rest of the way and his mates climbed on Richards in the last two frames for seven hits and as many runs to break up the game.

Eight Teams Booked.

On next Sunday and Monday an eight team, seven game tourney will be staged at Lincoln park. Five of the teams will be local combines with three others hailing from Marysville, Prospect and Nevada.

Batteries and score by innings:

Findlay 200 000 043—9 11 1
Marion 200 030 000—5 6 4

Findlay, Mains, McKitrick and Hendricks; Marion, Walters, Richards and Wilson.

Marion 201 012 0—6 10 3
Mansfield 200 000 0—2 1 1

Marion, Gunder and Wilson; Mansfield, Paulson and Simpson.

Findlay 013 420 1—11 14 1
Columbus 000 000 0—0 2 3

Findlay, Mains and Hendricks; Columbus, Griffin and Walters, Sloans.

DELAWARE VICTOR IN SUNDAY CLASH

The Pleasant baseball team of the Tri-county league had little to be joyful about today as the Delaware combine of the same league handed them out another setback, this time by a 19-9 score. The winners clubbed out a total of 21 hits off two Pleasant pitchers, Hambleton and Seller. The losers gathered in 11 hits, enough to win most ball games, but they were of little help as Delaware was on a real hitting spree.

Batteries and score by innings:

Pleasant 031 300 000 — 9 11
Delaware 211 132 61x—19 21

Pleasant, Hambleton, Seller and R. Brown; Delaware, Schwartz and Birch.

CAPTURES CROWN

GENE SARAZEN

SARAZEN SHOOTS 66 IN FINAL ROUND TO COP NATIONAL OPEN

Perkins, Cruickshank Nosed Out by Brilliant Finish of Jones' Successor.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 27.—In a much shorter time than any one thought possible golf has found a worthy successor to mighty Bobby Jones.

Gene Sarazen's smashing victory in the National Open at Fresh Meadow Saturday definitely placed the swarthy professional on the throne vacated two years ago by Jones. Sarazen, however, duplicated Jones' unprecedented feat of winning both the British and American Opens in the same year and bettered Jones' best scores in both classics.

Sarazen's 283 at Sandwich set up a new record for the British Open, bettering by two strokes Jones' 285 at St. Andrews in 1927, which had stood as an all time low for that classic. Gene's 286 at Fresh Meadow equalled the all time record for the National Open set by Chick Evans in 1916. Jones' best record in an American Open was his 287 in 1930.

Sarazen did not seem to get going until he had completed more than half of his third round.

Then his putts started rolling in from all directions and Gene's confidence suddenly returned. From then on he was unbeatable. His third round 70 put him definitely into the running and he wound up with a spectacular 66.

The tragic figures of the tournament were Thomas Philip Perkins, former British Amateur champion, and to an even greater degree Bobby Cruickshank, the wee Scot.

Perkins seemed to have clinched the championship with a par equalling 70 on his last round for a total of 289.

Cruickshank, who had taken 78-74 on his first two rounds, broke through with a brilliant 69 in the third round and then topped this off with a 68 on the fourth round to tie Perkins.

Perkins and Cruickshank thus seemed certain to play off for the title until Sarazen uncorked that smashing finish.

OWENS' BILLIARDS BEAT THOMPSON A. C.

With Bill Darnell striking out 16 men and allowing but five hits, the Owens Billiards of Marion scored their second straight victory yesterday in the Tri-county league over the Thompson A. C., winning by a 15-5 score. The game was played at the Silk Mill diamond. Dick McAninch, playing his first game for the Billiards, led the batting attack of the winners, clubbing out two home runs and a triple. Griffith, Thompson pitcher, struck out 10 but was touched for 13 hits.

Batteries and score by innings:

Thompson A. C. 100 003 001— 5 5 3
Billiards 132 050 13x—15 13 1

Thompson A. C., Griffith and Graham; Billiards, Darnell and Don McAninch.

BARBERS SCORE 13-2 VICTORY OVER ESSEX

Haughn's Barbers of Marion continued in the race for the Tri-county league baseball championship yesterday by handing Essex a 13-2 beating on the home field of the latter team. The Barbers banged out a total of 13 hits and committed only one error in scoring the one-sided victory. Honaker struck out 10 Essex batters.

Batteries and score by innings:

Haughns 130 104 112—13 10 1
Essex 100 000 001— 2 5 5

Haughn's, Honaker and Anderson; Essex, C. Wasserbeck and Ledley.

PIRATES BEAT REDS IN TWIN BILL TO GO INTO NATIONAL LEAD

Cubs Drop to Second in Torrid Race; Yanks Hold American Advantage.

By The Associated Press

Quietly and unobtrusively George Gibson's Pittsburgh Pirates have moved into temporary command of the hottest fight the National league has ever known.

Winning both ends of a double header from Cincinnati yesterday the Pirates snatched first place by three percentage points from the Chicago Cubs, who split even with St. Louis.

Gibson's Corsairs have been winning because they've been getting both air tight pitching and timely hitting. Yesterday Larry French limited the Reds to four hits and won 5-0 in the opener. They won the nightcap 9-6 by scoring six runs in the ninth.

Charley Root

Jimmy Reese's pinch double in the ninth drove in two runs and enabled the Cardinals to trip the Cubs 4-3 in the first game. Charley Root outpitched Dizzy Dean in the nightcap and the Cubs won also by a 4-3 count.

The Boston Braves split two games with the Phillies, taking the first 5-4 and dropping the second as Ed Holley held them to nine scattered hits. Bill Clark pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 5-2 decision over the New York Giants.

In the American league the Yankees protected their eight and one half game lead by beating the Philadelphia Athletics again 6-2, touching Rube Walberg four runs in the first inning. The Athletics fell back into fourth place behind the Washington Senators, who tripped the Boston Red Sox 8-4.

Blanked by Milt Gaston for seven innings, the Detroit Tigers took advantage of three errors and two walks after two were out in the eighth to score five runs and down the Chicago White Sox 5-1. Wes Ferrell won his 13th game as the Cleveland Indians stopped the St. Louis Browns 10-7 in the first game of a doubleheader, but the Browns came back to win the second 6-5.

SOFTBALL LEAGUES START LAST ROUND

Eighteen Games Slated for Week; Single Slip May Eliminate Clubs from Flag Race.

With the campaign having reached a point in all of the four city leagues where a defeat may mean elimination from the chase for the league pennant, softball will move into the second half of its 1932 schedule today. Eighteen games are slated for the next five days, the four regular weekly tilts in each circuit and two play-offs of postponed games Wednesday.

As usual the No. 2 church league will start the week's schedule with a four game program today. The melee between First Reformed and Christian No. 1 at the Shovel athletic field will probably provide the most excitement. St. Paul and Christian Seniors may also put up a good exhibition at Harding field.

Tuesday Sked.

The fireworks will get under way in earnest Tuesday when the No. 1 Sunday school league touches off the fuse of its second round of play. The fight of the Epworth Bishops to retain a tie for second place at the expense of Trinity Baptist at Harding field promises to be the best game. However, either the Lee Street Epworth No. 1 game at Garfield or the St. Mary-Calvary clash at Lincoln might outdo the Baptist-Bishop fracas.

The Eagles lodge and Erie Mechanics of the Industrial league will settle their first round argument Wednesday at Lincoln park. The K. of P. lodge and Prospect of the Commercial circuit will get their first round game out of the way on the same day at the Shovel athletic field.

Fast Games Thursday.

On Thursday the Gasco-Erie Mechanics battle at Lincoln and Steam Shovel-C. D. & M. clash at the Shovel field will easily top the schedule. Either of these conflicts is likely to be a battle royal with the issue in doubt up to the last out.

The K. of P. will make the second stand of the week Friday against the Erie Traffic club at

More Sports on Page 10

Harding field. If the K. of P. beats Prospect Wednesday it will be defending the only perfect record in the city as no team yet has racked up a victory against the lodge team.

On Sunday and Monday, July 3 and 4, a two-day tournament is slated for Lincoln park with eight teams taking part. Marysville and Nevada will be the only out-of-town teams entered. The other six will be local combines. The exact lineup will not be available for a day or two.

WANT SOFTBALL GAMES

The Marion All Stars softball team would like to book games with teams in this district. Managers should get in touch with Ralph Clark at 192 Hane avenue or telephone 4460. The All Stars have a fine record for the season, having won something like 20 games while losing only two.

BLUES MOVE AHEAD IN A. A. FLAG CHASE BY DOUBLE VICTORY

Columbus Loses Ground in Frantic Scramble for Association Pennant

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 27.—As if things were not complicated enough before, Harrison (Dutch) Zwilling and his Kansas City Blues have nudged themselves into the frantic scramble for first place in the American Association.

The week-end produced two victories for the Blues over the forlorn St. Paul outfit and today Kansas City was in fourth place, four and one half games out of the lead.

The past two days did Columbus no good in its bid for the top position, the Louisville Colonels acting up to the extent of winning two out of three. The defeats left the Red Birds 2½ points behind Minneapolis. The Millers and Brewers were kept in idleness yesterday by rain.

Indianapolis also lost ground by dropping two out of three to the hustling Toledo Mud Hens.

Louisville took the first game of the Sunday doubleheader from Columbus but could do almost nothing with Ken Ash in the second and lost 6 to 2.

Toledo packed its punch into two innings to defeat Indianapolis 9 to 6 in their first game but located Thomas for only five hits in the second, which was held to seven innings by the 6 o'clock closing law in the Hoosier metropolis.

Kansas City trimmed St. Paul 4 to 3 in the first game while Jack Tising gave the Saints only six hits as the Blues took the second 9 to 2.

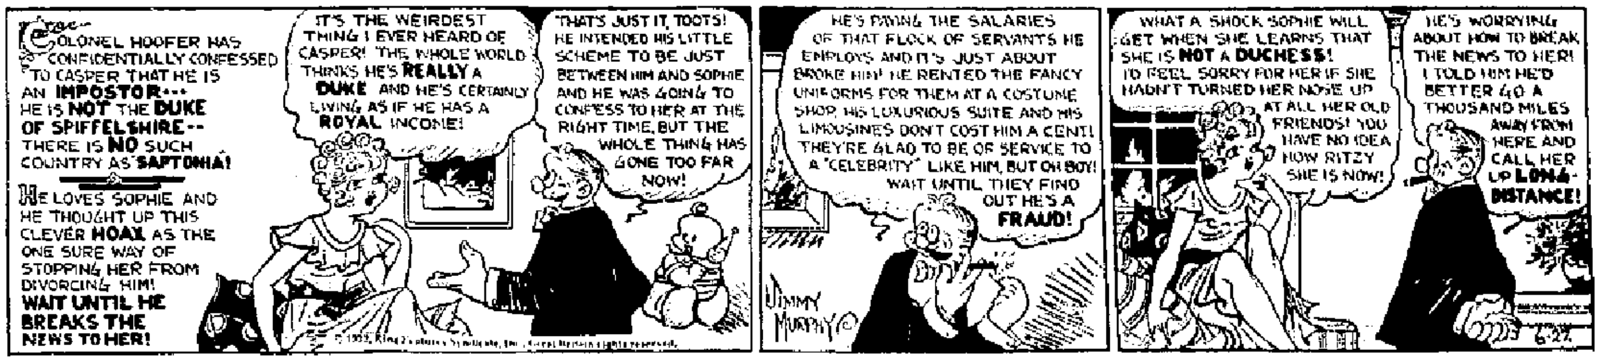
TOOTS AND CASPER

BY JIMMY MURPHY



COLONEL HOOFER HAS CONFIDENTIALLY CONFESSED TO CASPER THAT HE IS AN IMPOSTOR... HE IS NOT THE DUKE OF SPIFFELSHIRE -- THERE IS NO SUCH COUNTRY AS SAPTONIA!
HE LOVES SOPHIE AND HE THOUGHT UP THIS CLEVER HOAX AS THE ONE SURE WAY OF STOPPING HER FROM DIVORCING HIM! WAIT UNTIL HE BREAKS THE NEWS TO HER!
IT'S THE WEIRDEST THING I EVER HEARD OF CASPER! THE WHOLE WORLD THINKS HE'S REALLY A DUKE AND HE'S CERTAINLY LIVING AS IF HE HAS A ROYAL INCOME!
THAT'S JUST IT, TOOTS! HE INTENDED HIS LITTLE SCHEME TO BE JUST BETWEEN HIM AND SOPHIE AND HE WAS GOING TO CONFESS TO HER AT THE RIGHT TIME, BUT THE WHOLE THING HAS GONE TOO FAR NOW!
HE'S PAYING THE SALARIES OF THAT FLOCK OF SERVANTS HE EMPLOYS AND IT'S JUST ABOUT BROKE HIM! HE RENTED THE FANCY UNIFORMS FOR THEM AT A COSTUME SHOP. HIS LUXURIOUS SUITE AND HIS LIMOUSINES DON'T COST HIM A CENT! THEY'RE GLAD TO BE OF SERVICE TO A "CELEBRITY" LIKE HIM, BUT OH BOY! WAIT UNTIL THEY FIND OUT HE'S A FRAUD!
JIMMY MURPHY
WHAT A SHOCK SOPHIE WILL GET WHEN SHE LEARNS THAT SHE IS NOT A DUCHESS! I'D FEEL SORRY FOR HER IF SHE HADN'T TURNED HER NOSE UP AT ALL HER OLD FRIENDS! YOU HAVE NO IDEA HOW RITZY SHE IS NOW!
HE'S WORRYING ABOUT HOW TO BREAK THE NEWS TO HER! I TOLD HIM HE'D BETTER GO A THOUSAND MILES AWAY FROM HERE AND CALL HER UP LONG-DISTANCE!
